4. Tips on How to Support Your Branch Friends Group

Winifred Walters, Community Relations Manager, gave overview. OPL is fortunate to have an active Friends of the Oakland Public Library (FOPL) group that advocates and raises funds for the entire Oakland Public Library system. FOPL can also serve as the fiscal agent when needed by other Friends groups. In addition, there are a number of neighborhood Friends groups which support specific branches or collections, and a Branch Friends Network for all Branch Friends groups which meets twice a year.

Friends groups are not policy-making bodies. They do:

- Advocate for the library
- Donate their time as volunteers for the library
- Raise funds to help support the collections, programs and other service needs of the library
- Sponsor programs
