WILD ASIAN WATER BUFFALO

A TRIBUTE TO THE ENDANGERED

SET 2: NUMBER 5 OF 36

WILD ASIAN WATER BUFFALO

Now found only in limited wetlands throughout Nepal, India, Thailand, and Bhutan, the Wild Asian Water Buffalo stands 6 feet tall and can weigh more than 1 ton. Loss of habitat, hunting, interbreeding with domestic buffalo, and cattle diseases have all contributed to this species' decline. It is believed fewer than 1,000 remain in the wild.

I am trying to find a beautiful home for my 3 year old poodle. Her name is Amenoni. She is very very beautiful. She is playful and full of lots of life! She is also great with children. I am trying to sell her because my Granmother is not able to care for her at all. She is very good to her owners I might add. If you are interested please call Mrs. Grady at (510) [redacted] Please call if you are a serious dog lover!

A colorful cartoon illustration of a man named John Gardenier. He is a middle-aged man with dark hair, wearing a blue suit, white shirt, and blue tie. He is smiling broadly. In his left arm, he holds a small white rabbit. In his right hand, he holds a green plant with three leaves. Below him, the name "JOHN" is written in a stylized font inside a small box. Below that, the word "GARDENIER" is written in large, bold, yellow letters with a black outline. To the left of "GARDENIER" is the phone number "(844) 624-4248" and the email address "jgardenier@johngardenier.com". To the right of "GARDENIER" is a Facebook icon followed by "johngardeniermagic" and the website "www.johngardenier.com". The background is a bright yellow with some darker yellow spots.

How to Garden for Wildlife...

Follow these easy steps to attract birds, butterflies and other wildlife to your own yard:

1. Grow native plants found in your area that offer food such as pollen, nectar, acorns, nuts, cones, berries and other seeds.
2. Provide water for wildlife with a birdbath, small pond or shallow dish ... or take care of a natural spring or stream on or near your habitat.
3. Create protective cover for wildlife by growing a meadow, a prairie or densely branched shrubs. Place hollow logs and rock piles in your yard.
4. Attach birdhouses to metal poles and monitor their use.

Please watch what you plant in your garden. Exotic species not native to your region can become invasive and can be harmful to both people and wildlife.

Dear Charlie and Helen,
Just a little note this afternoon. I thought you would like the enclosed clipping. It's a good picture.

We are working on getting packed up. We say we're not taking much, but it adds up quickly. However, we aren't taking many clothes.

Today is cool and cloudy, but no rain predicted yet, maybe a sprinkle or a shower. This could be our fifth year of drought - everyone is worried about that. Hawaii has had a little rain. Last night the PBS program, "Victory Garden" was taken on Maui at the Hana-Mau Hotel's ranch. It's expensive but very old Hawaii, not near any of the tourist areas. The flowers and plants shown were beautiful. Also "Backroads" are on the backroads of the island of Hawaii. When Dad and I went we flew first directly to that island. The airport is like landing on the moon, all that lava rock. It was fun. We'll write a report after this trip. Much love, Mom
